

Nokia N139DL (TA-1398) with a flip design, KaiOS certified by FCC

By Jed John Ikoba - Dec 17, 2021

HMD Global may have just yet another entry-level Nokia “smart” feature phone in the works if the latest FCC listing is anything to go by. The most interesting aspect of this listing is that the device will come with a flip design. The Nokia N139DL is listed with the model number TA-1398 and may be launched in no distant time.

The Nokia N139DL is potentially the second flip design-packing feature phone HMD Global will be unveiling in recent times. Recall that the Nokia 2720 4G was launched in May this year as the first KaiOS-powered Flip phone.

FCC documents show that the Nokia N139DL design won't be too different from the Nokia 2720 4G. This model will pack a 1450mAh battery that is almost similar to the 1,500mAh cell on the 2720 4G.

The listing also shows the device will come with support for Wi-Fi and 4G connectivity. The device had earlier received certification from the WiFi Alliance showing it will be powered by KaiOS 3.0. We also expect it to come with support for Google Assistant for voice commands just like its predecessor.

We expect the Nokia N139DL to carry a decent price like the Nokia 2720 4G which is priced at $80. There is no indication when the device will be launched but we expect that to happen soon. We'll keep you updated when new details emerge about the upcoming Nokia flip phone.

RELATED:

- Google announces Android 12L for tablets, foldables, and Chrome OS devices
- Google announces Android 12 Go Edition with improved performance
- Updated Wear OS 3.0 emulator image released with visual changes
- Here's why Nokia 9 PureView Android 11 update got canceled

(via)

---

---

Jed John Ikoba

I am a seasoned senior writer at Gizmochina with a keen interest in smartphones and other tech gadgets; Smartwatches, robots, AR/VR, cameras, drones, and EVs! Yes, I love EVs, e-Scooters, and anything tech. Follow me on

Twitter - @jedi_ikoba and Instagram - jedikoba